Claim Objections

1. In claim 6 it would appear that "said current source" should be change to --said second current source--.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 12 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 12 is not understood. It appears to define temperature independence even though the second current is not compensation for the first current.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-3, 6 and 11-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ashmore, JR. (USPN 5,818,294).

Art Unit: 2816

Fig. 1 shows a first current source (upper current source & 28), a second current source (lower current source & 30) connected in parallel with the first current source and a resistive summing means 46 as recited in claims 1, 2 and 11-13.

Fig. 2 shows a first current generation means as recited in claims 3 and 6.

Both current sources show in Fig. 1 sense temperature, develop a voltage across the temperature sensing components and generate an output based on temperature and a reference voltage  $V_{IN}$  as recited in claims 14 and 15.

Claims 16-18 are anticipated by the Background of the Invention.

Conclusion

6. Claims 4, 5 and 7-10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but may be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
